perspective he can't have," Davidson said.

Roger said it is clear why many law enforcement officers have thrown their support his way, noting most organizations — including the 1,200-member Las Vegas Police Protective Association — have endorsed him.

Davidson said he believes it is noteworthy that many leaders have endorsed him. Among them, he said, are Henderson Mayor Jim Gibson, Rep. Shelley Berkley, D-Nev., and Clark County Commissioner Bruce Woodbury. Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., held a fund-raiser for him.

Roger said he would also like to focus on repeat offenders — the 20 percent of the people who commit 80 percent of crimes.

Davidson said he plans to continue improving child-support collection and work on the rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.

Independent American Joel Hansen said if he is elected he will seek the death penalty when appropriate, support truth in sentencing laws and work to stop the early release of violent criminals.

Trial attorney Hansen has handled criminal cases and a variety of civil cases including those involving malpractice, insurance coverage disputes, insurance fraud and personal injuries.
